RUSSIAN PLANE LEAVES EGYPT'S AIRSPACE BEFORE DISAPPEARING FROM RADARS NEAR LARNACA

News / Airlines

The Russian passenger plane has left Egypt's airspace before disappearing from radars near Cyprus' Larnaca, Sky News Arabia TV channel reported on Saturday.

The plane that took off from the Sharm el-Shaikh airport in the morning was carrying 212 people.

It was earlier reported that the plane crashed in the central part of Egypt's Sinai Peninsula.

The Egyptian Embassy's consular department is checking the information about the Russian plane.

Egypt's PM says Russian passenger plane crashed in Sinai.

The civilian airliner that lost contact with air traffic controllers and was feared crashed in Egypt's Sinai has contacted Turkish air traffic controllers, Reuters reported on Saturday citing Ayman al-Muqaddam, the head of the central air traffic accident authority in Egypt.

31 OCTOBER 2015

SOURCE: TASS

© 2015-2026 50SKYSHADES.COM — Reproduction, copying, or redistribution for commercial purposes is prohibited.

ARTICLE LINK:
https://ut.50skyshades.com/news/airlines/russian-plane-leaves-egypts-airspace-before-disappearing-from-radars-near-larnaca

© 2015-2026 50SKYSHADES.COM — Reproduction, copying, or redistribution for commercial purposes is prohibited.