DESERT JET EXPANDS TO COLORADO WITH TWO NEW STATE-OF-THE-ART HANGARS AT YAMPA VALLEY REGIONAL AIRPORT (KHDN)

News / Business aviation

Desert Jet expands into Colorado with the management and operation of two brand-new, state-of-the-art hangars at Yampa Valley Regional Airport (KHDN) in Hayden, serving the renowned ski destination of Steamboat Springs and the greater Yampa Valley region. The two 28,800 square-foot heated hangars were developed by Wiens Real Estate Ventures and HDN Hangar Investment Group, which contracted Desert Jet to manage operations under a business development and management agreement. The new facilities can accommodate aircraft as large as the Gulfstream G800 and Bombardier Global 8000, providing secure, modern space for both based tenants and transient aircraft owners and operators flying into the area for winter and year-round recreation.

Tim Wiens, Principal of Wiens Real Estate Ventures commented: "We are excited to partner with Desert Jet, whose reputation for excellence in aviation services aligns perfectly with our vision for Yampa Valley. This collaboration is a pivotal step in enhancing the aviation experience in this world-class destination."

Jared Fox, CEO of Desert Jet stated: “We are proud to extend Desert Jet’s national reputation for service excellence to Steamboat Springs and the Yampa Valley. This expansion represents the next chapter in our mission to deliver the highest standard of aviation services to new destinations across the country. The new facilities at Hayden Airport not only provide much-needed hangar space for aircraft of all sizes but also introduce Desert Jet’s culture of safety, care, and hospitality to the vibrant and growing aviation community at KHDN Airport.”

These hangars mark the next step in Desert Jet’s broader national expansion strategy, following the company’s previously announced plans to grow its FBO network beyond its highly recognized, award-winning Desert Jet Center flagship in the Palm Springs / Coachella Valley region. The Hayden development represents the foundation for a future world-class, full-service FBO, part of Desert Jet’s long-term vision to bring a premier destination experience to Colorado’s mountain communities. Under the management agreement, Desert Jet will oversee day-to-day operations of the new hangars, bringing its award-winning service model to Colorado and extending its hallmark commitment to exceptional service, safety, and hospitality to new clients in Colorado’s mountain communities.

Desert Jet Hayden location will offer aircraft owners, charter operators, and guests flying into Yampa Valley convenient and secure short and long-term hangar space with the same level of personalized service and operational expertise that has earned Desert Jet multiple national FBO awards. This marks the first of several planned expansions as Desert Jet continues to grow its footprint in key destinations across the United States.
