- We highly appreciate the credit of trust given to us by our clients choosing Emperor Aviation as a reliable managing company, – says Irakli Litanishvili, Emperor Aviation owner. – Moreover the new shipping of Global XRS aircraft is a serious stage of our development. The strategy of the company is to form a strong fleet structure which now includes almost 100% long-range business-jets. Two thirds of the fleet is made up with Bombardier Global aircraft.

The new aircraft in Emperor Aviation fleet will be based in Domodedovo Business Aviation Center, Moscow and operated on behalf of a private owner. While operating the jet Emperor Aviation will use its' know-how – a transparent financial structure of aircraft management which allows to cut the operational costs by 15-25%.

Absolutizing individual servicing of the client the operator has created a brand new approach to aircraft expenses analysis: the company employs a whole staff of analysts who draw up a monthly report for every client individually. The documentation thoroughly covers all the operational expenses and company specialists' recommendations. Moreover the client receives a personal bank account which allows tracing any operation and is available 24 hours a day.

Emperor Aviation operator has been active in the market since 2013 and is a part of Aim of Emperor group. Emperor Aviation employees have gained an ideal reputation in the sphere of private aircraft operation for the last 10 years and have been active in the largest companies in the field: Ocean Sky, Petroff Air, Rusaero, DC Aviation and Vibro-Air. Emperor Aviation fleet comprises 10 aircraft with Global XRS, Global 5000 and Falcon 7X among them.
