TAG AVIATION EUROPE EXPANDS ITS MANAGED FLEET OF AIRCRAFT

News / Business aviation

TAG Aviation Europe is pleased to announce that seventeen new clients have chosen to place twenty aircraft under its comprehensive range of aircraft management services during the past year.

TAG Aviation will operate the newly managed aircraft on behalf of the private owners which range from single engine turbo prop aircraft to VIP airliners. Six of these managed aircraft in total will be available for third party charters.

“Clients who choose us to manage their aircraft benefit from TAG’s unique SPIRIT (Safety, Passion, Integrity, Respect, Innovation and Team Spirit) of private aviation - an acronym that embodies our core values” said Florent Sériès, European Vice President for Sales and Marketing, TAG Aviation Europe. “We provide bespoke aircraft management turnkey solutions for our clients’ specific needs and this boutique service extends to our complete spectrum of aircraft maintenance with our philosophy centred around the highest safety and airworthiness standards within the aviation industry.”

TAG Aviation leverages its global reach and operational experience to deliver trusted and transparent aircraft management with tight financial control methods which make it far easier for clients to analyse their operational costs. Many clients seek revenue from their asset via third party charters when their aircraft is not in use. This has the added attraction of allowing owners to be able to offset some of the aircraft’s operational costs against their own personal flights.

Recognising that every aircraft has a different story TAG’s comprehensive and tailored aircraft management service provides multiple benefits to aircraft owners with a newly formed rotary flight operations department offering an added attraction for clients who own both aircraft and helicopters.

“The greatest compliment that I can give TAG Aviation is that their boutique aircraft management service enables me to feel like their only client. They provide an immediate response, exceptional service, first class aircraft maintenance and always at a very competitive price. I would not choose to have my aircraft managed by anyone else.” - Global Express Owner
