‘RUSSIAN REFUSAL TO ISSUE VISAS TO CARRIER VIOLATES AVIATION RULES’

News / Events / Festivals

Turkish Transport Minister Binali Y?ld?r?m said on Wednesday Russia's refusal to issue visas to crew members working for budget carrier Pegasus was an "arbitrary" measure and violated international aviation rules.

?stanbul-based Pegasus said on Tuesday it suspended flights to and from Russia until Jan. 13 after authorities in Moscow failed to give its crew visas. Turkey would use diplomatic channels to appeal to Russia to abide by "international norms," Y?ld?r?m said at a news conference.

07 JANUARY 2016

SOURCE: TODAYSZAMAN
ARTICLE LINK:
https://ut.50skyshades.com/news/events-festivals/russian-refusal-to-issue-visas-to-carrier-violates-aviation-rules

© 2015-2026 50SKYSHADES.COM — Reproduction, copying, or redistribution for commercial purposes is prohibited.