AVIATION HEAVEN GMBH UNVEILS THE FIRST AIRCRAFT TYPE SPECIFIED MRO SEARCH TOOL

News / Business aviation, Maintenance / Trainings

Today, Aviation Heaven GmbH, an online network platform for Business Aviation Operators and Maintenance Facilities (MRO´s) announced the launch of the first Aircraft Type based MRO network for EASA, Isle of Man and San Marino registered Business Jets! After an extensive re-search and development time of nearly two years the worldwide MRO database is now available to all Business Jet Operators. Operators will find MRO´s worldwide which have the capability to support their aircraft type. This will open new opportunities in aircraft management since the MRO´s are already known before the aircraft takes off to their destination. Maintenance Slots can be booked in advance and multiple sources can be used in AOG situations. Results will be costs and time savings.

With the start of the Network, Aviation Heaven CEO Andreas Past said, “With this Tool on your side it will turn the management of Business Jets into a proactive way which ultimately saves maintenance and ferry flight costs! You will find the MRO´s which are certified on your Aircraft Type Worldwide and with the mobile friendly website wherever you are”.

All MRO´s with an EASA Approval can register and submit their data free of charge to the network. Both their base and line stations will be available to the Operator if the aircraft type matches!

There is a fixed yearly subscription fee for the Operator which includes all their managed aircrafts. The first 50 Operators will benefit from a 50% discount!

The future plans are to include training facilities to give Operators and Maintenance Facilities a platform for trainings available either for Engineers, Pilots or other Stuff. Another part will be Crew and Technicians database for Freelance Pilots and Technicians available to the industry. All based on Aircraft Types will provide everyone in the network an easy and fast service.
