Diamond Aircraft announced the establishment of the official Diamond Flying Club and simultaneous launch of the club's online portal, www.diamondflyingclub.com. Through the DFC, Diamond Aircraft aims to foster a worldwide community of Diamond enthusiasts, while enhancing communication and interactivity with and between Diamond owners, operators, specialists, fans, and the Diamond Aircraft company.

Diamond Group Chairman Bin Chen commented: "As our motto goes: 'One World, One Diamond, One Family'. Whether you're a titan of industry or an aviation dreamer, a pioneer with a private fleet or a newcomer taking your first steps into flight, DFC will connect you with like-minded people. With DFC, we're committed to bringing you extraordinary experiences that soar beyond expectations. Together, we will unlock the horizons of possibility."

Conceived and operated by Wanfeng Diamond Aircraft's headquarters, the DFC adopts a model of one global headquarters plus three regional hubs in Europe, North America, and the Asia-Pacific region respectively. Driven by a vision to continually improve the overall aviation experience, DFC will serve as the premier platform to connect aircraft owners and aviation enthusiasts with the Diamond Aircraft company; to link members with fellow members; and to coordinate suppliers, flight schools, dealers, and service providers.

The club’s official online platform will feature six core functions:

- A club overview, with comprehensive information about the DFC
- A quick and easy enrollment system for club membership
- A portal to share the latest Diamond Aircraft news as well as updates on our global event schedule
- Our e-commerce “Pilot Shop” platform for Diamond-branded General Aviation products
- A member center that will include streamlined registration to Diamond events
- An online forum with multilingual functionality to enable members to stay in contact wherever they happen to be.

The DFC will not only be open to Diamond aircraft users, but also to aspiring aviators and wider fans of Diamond Aircraft and General Aviation. By building a cross-regional and interactive global community in which aircraft owners, aviation elites, top aerospace experts, and flight enthusiasts can exchange their experiences, Diamond will also enhance its ability to share resources, information on research and developments, providing a further means to enhance customer experience.

As a world-leading manufacturer and innovator in General Aviation, Diamond Aircraft enjoys a reputation for performance, efficiency, and safety. With five aircraft models, ranging from the two-seater, single engine DA20 to the seven-seater, twin-engine “SUV of the skies” DA62, Diamond aircraft serve customers in more than 90 countries.
