BESPOKE AVIATION APPOINTS MARCUS KRAUSE

News / Business aviation, Personalities

Bespoke Aviation appoints of Marcus Krause as regional associate, EMEA.

After spending a number of years in the cockpit, Marcus transitioned into several business development and account management roles in aviation. He also continues to fly today as a freelance business jet pilot on the Airbus A320.

> “As regional associate, Marcus will play a crucial role in developing new business and managing client accounts in the EMEA regions.”

Jaques Brooks, founder & director of Bespoke Aviation said: “As regional associate, Marcus will play a crucial role in developing new business and managing client accounts in the EMEA regions. Our team is excited to have Marcus on-board and eager to harness his enthusiasm and passion for aviation.”

The appointment of Marcus Krause follows the addition of Pierre Lepine earlier in the year as technical services manager.

Recent and on-going projects at Bespoke Aviation include, a marketing and collateral production project for a UK based broker, sourcing of finance for a Challenger 300 and a Global XRS, a market entry study for a technical services and CAM provider and soon to be commencing the operator selection for a UK based Challenger 605.

© 2015-2026 50SKYSHADES.COM — Reproduction, copying, or redistribution for commercial purposes is prohibited.

Bespoke Aviation is in a position to assist aircraft owners and the wider business aviation community as a whole, offering standalone and unique solutions across a broad spectrum of services.

18 SEPTEMBER 2015

SOURCE: CORPORATEJETINVESTOR
ARTICLE LINK:
https://ut.50skyshades.com/news/personalities/bespoke-aviation-appoints-marcus-krause

© 2015-2026 50SKYSHADES.COM — Reproduction, copying, or redistribution for commercial purposes is prohibited.